

We're sending you this email because you asked to receive updates about the "homeopathy worked for me" campaign (see footer). We've got some exciting news to share, and we also need to ask if you can help us.

In this email:

- ... A request for help (it will take you 30 seconds)
- ... Declaration shortly to hit 7,000 signatures
- ... New website - new information
- ... A new patron
- ... Five celebrities back the campaign
- ... Sir Richard Branson

Request for help

First, the "help" bit. We've made great progress (see below) in the last few months, but with only a handful of people working on the campaign, it's difficult for us to make progress fast. The campaign against homeopathy is intensifying and time is literally running out.

How can you help? There are a number of things you can do to raise awareness of this campaign, with very little effort on your part. They include emailing friends, blogging, or even raising awareness at work. Each of these things might take you only a few minutes, but even if only one in four people help, that's a couple of thousand people who will be raising awareness of the campaign.

As a first step, could you please click this link and update the details we have for you in our database, so that we know whether to contact you or not with detailed information and tools. This should only take about 20 seconds. We really appreciate you helping to spread the word.

If you are one of the people who has very kindly already offered to help, please also follow the steps above. We'll be in touch soon!

Declaration shortly to hit 7,000 signatures

We're moments away from hitting 7,000 "signatures" (both on paper and online). This is a great achievement for us, but we're setting our sights very much higher. We know there are literally hundreds of thousands of people who have used homeopathy - with success - in the UK. The more support we gather for this campaign, the less power the campaign against homeopathy will ultimately have.

New website - more information

You may have already visited our new website, but if not please take the time to do so. It has been professionally built to help us raise awareness of homeopathy, the campaign against homeopathy, and why the objections being raised don't make any sense. There is also a treasure trove of links for anyone wanting to research homeopathy, and details of how you can help raise awareness. Just click here to access the website.

A new patron

News just in that Miranda Castro has just agreed to be Patron of the trust and the "Homeopathy worked for me" campaign. Miranda Castro is an incredibly well respected homeopath who is widely published, is frequently invited to teach at schools and has presented numerous papers at prestigious conferences around the world. More information will be posted shortly, but in the meantime visit Miranda Castro's website here.

Celebrities back "Homeopathy worked for me"

We've also just confirmed that five well known UK celebrities have agreed to endorse the Homeopathy worked for me campaign. Actresses Jenny Seagrove and Michelle Collins, along with actor Carl Myers, TV presenter Gaby Roslin and well known obstetrician Yehudi Gordon have all this week confirmed their public support for this campaign. More news in relation to this will be posted in the next few weeks.

Sir Richard Branson gets into Homeopathy

Are you aware that Sir Richard Branson, arguably the most famous entrepreneur in the UK, will launch six Virgin Healthcare centres in the UK. The centres will offer a variety of treatments, including homeopathy. For a link to this story, visit our website.

Upcoming meetings

There are a number of upcoming meetings around the UK – details of which can be found on the Meetings page of the website.
